A BRIEF REPORT OF THE FACILITIES FOR THE DISABLED

1. RAMP FACILITY

A ramp is constructed quite opposite to the office room in the college building. This is a sloping structure or pathway that is designed to provide wheelchair accessibility and assist individuals with mobility impairments in navigating between different levels or areas of the college campus. Ramps are an essential feature of inclusive design and ensure that students, faculty, staff, and visitors with disabilities can move freely and independently throughout the college premises without encountering barriers. Hence, as the college is committed to provide an inclusive environment, it has taken this measure. The surface of the ramp is often non-slip to prevent accidents. It's important for colleges to prioritize accessibility and include ramps in their infrastructure to create an inclusive environment that allows students and staff with disabilities to fully participate in educational and social activities.

In a degree college, wheelchairs serve an important role in facilitating the participation and inclusion of students, faculty, staff, and visitors with disabilities. They allow individuals to attend classes, access different facilities, and participate in various activities without relying on assistance. Overall, ensuring the availability and
